- (a) Maintenance of records of the criminals, if necessary, to keep a watch over their activities. SDPOs / CIs / SHOs should liaise with the jail authorities to get the details of released criminals and the same should be briefed to the beat officers who will keep regular watch over their activities. The help of social media can be taken for immediate response; however it should be followed by the written communication.
- (b) CIs / SHOs should also contact the jail authority and get the history of any dispute among two rival groups in the jail. It has been reported that even small dispute in jail has subsequently led to the revenge killing after the release of such groups. Prior knowledge of petty disputes inside the jail will help in preventing revenge killing.
- (c) A special vigil has to be maintained over the activities of the murder accused who have been released on bail. The bail should be got cancelled depending upon their activities in order to avoid the possibility of revenge murder.
- (d) The annual booklet should be made regarding potential revenge killers which will include all the above category of criminals. The booklet should be distributed to all concerned police stations.
- (e) Similarly, the booklet also be prepared for the released burglars / motor vehicle thieves / snatchers so that adequate prevention of crime can be made.
